Equipped for NEW Ventures in Myanmar's Upstream Oil, Gas & Power Generation

H.E. U Than Htay, Union Minister of Energy, Myanmar
The Myanmar Oil, Gas & Power sector is the last frontier market in South East Asia and the Myanmar government aims to accelerate growth by encouraging foreign direct investment. Organized by Myanmar's Ministry of Energy and CMT, the 2nd MOGP Summit is the platform for key officials, global and local energy/power companies and investors to receive first-hand information on latest regulatory reforms, oil and gas fiscal regime (e.g. Production Sharing Contract) and tax structure updates.

Myanmar President U Thein Sein announced in June that the country will embark on a "second wave of reforms" in the Myanmar's Energy Sector to encourage and increase participation from the private sector and foreign investment.

At 2nd MOGP Summit, Official speakers' panel will present investment opportunities as the second round of bidding invitation commence for the upstream oil, gas as well as electric power sector. Participants can also find out how they can participate in this growth and development from leading oil and gas operators in Myanmar. The first MOGP Summit (March 2012) was successfully organized and attended by over 150 companies from more than 30 countries.

Currently, Myanmar is inviting prospective IPPs and PPPs for the electric power sector and discussions are already going on. Official speakers from Ministry of Electric Power (1) and (2) will lay out their requirement to new power plants increase the power supply capacity, fuel mix and requirement, and their role to facilitate foreign investment.

In the oil and gas sector, details on the Second Round of bidding invitation will be discussed at this 2nd MOGP Summit, by the officials from Ministry of Energy, that includes bids for deep and shallow-water blocks and onshore blocks. Particularly after the inaugural summit in March, the energy ministry has already been receiving enquiries from energy majors, NOCs, IOCs on the imminent prospects of acquiring E & P blocks and opportunity of implementing energy infrastructure development projects. 2nd MOGP Summit will also highlight Exploration and Production (E&P) project developments from leading oil & gas operators in Myanmar, current oil & gas infrastructure and future plan and gas market/pipeline opportunities.

This summit will host full attendance from key officials from Ministry of Energy, Myanmar Oil and Gas Enterprise (MOGE), Ministry of Electric Power (1) and (2), Myanmar Investment Commission (MIC), Directorate of Investment & Company Administration (DICA) as well as representatives from local oil, gas and power companies. 2nd MOGP Summit aims to bridge the connection between potential foreign investors and local companies, to tap into the potential in the booming oil, gas and power sector in Myanmar.
