Tapping on PET Conversions in the Next Frontier African Markets

Demand for packaged water combined with rising consumer incomes are driving the PET revolution across the sub-Saharan African region. East Africa is an attractive market with large concentration of PET demand, whilst West Africa is a promising region with growth driven largely by the Nigerian market. South Africa is leading the continent's packaging innovations and sustainability.

CMT's inaugural Africa PET will be a vital event for the PET supply chain to meet and explore opportunities in fast changing key African markets.

Session Highlights:

- PET outlook: Kenya, Tanzania, Ivory Coast, Senegal, Mali, South Africa & Ghana
- Nigeria's growing packaging sector & strategies for ECOWAS markets
- Global scenario and PET developments for Africa by region
- Challenges for African converters: From preform quality to technology options
- Setting up effective business arrangements: Understanding the demographic, tax & duties, investment climate, etc.
- Packaging sector outlook & growth in different segments: Water, CSD, Edible oil, Wine
- Risks & issues of supplying & distributing in Africa: A logistics perspective
- Split in virgin versus recycling PET market: The case for South Africa
- Recycling developments: Is it a growing niche?
- Technology options for emerging markets & small to medium converters/bottlers
