Who Should Attend

Senior executives / traders from international/ regional cement companies, ready-mix concrete companies, pre-cast & building materials companies, cement raw materials suppliers (slag, fly ash, steel, coal), construction/ infrastructure/building/equity/research analysts, project financiers/banks, engineering, environmental & CDM consultants, technology & equipment providers, logistics & shipping companies (dry bulk and cement carriers).

Indonesia plans to invest US$35 billion in new infrastructure projects this year. 32 out of the 56 projects are to be private public partnership (PPP). From 2014 to 2017, projects to start includes 8 seaports, 2 airports, 8 railways, 5 power plants and 11 water supply and waste treatment plants. In The Philippine, the government will spend close to USD 9 billion for various infrastructure projects this year. Whilst in Myanmar, the World Bank pledges USD2 billion for infrastructure projects and Japan granted fresh aid worth about US$610 million to Myanmar. The loans are designed to help build infrastructure for the Thilawa Special Economic Zone and upgrade a railway network in the country, among other projects. If all these infrastructure projects go ahead as planned, the opportunities for cement players will be tremendous. Can the cement industry meet the impending demand?
